

By 2020, 50 billion devices will roam the earth.

(That's seven devices per person. Whoa.)

People will be able to work in even more ways. How, when and where they want. This is the new frontier of collaboration. A new day of dynamic interaction made possible by pervasive video and rich media. And Cisco Collaboration solutions are ready to allow your people to work securely and flexibly across this new population of devices. So your business can prosper in this new world of productivity and make the most of its possibilities. See how others are steering their companies toward this new frontier at cisco.com/devices.

together we are the human network. 